

AYER'S ARGUMENT.

If there is any reason why you should use any sarsaparilla, there is every reason why you should use Ayer's. When you take sarsaparilla you take it to cure disease; you want to be cured as quickly as possible and as cheaply as possible. That is why you should use Ayer's: it cures quickly and cheaply—and it cures to stay. Many people write us: "I would sooner have one bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla than three of any other kind." A druggist writes that "one bottle of Ayer's will give more benefit than six of any other kind." If one bottle of Ayer's will do the work of three it must have the strength of three at the cost of one. There's the point in a nutshell. It pays every way to use

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

1895 Rambler, $75.00

Trusting that you may be interested in cycling, we take the liberty of stating to you a few facts about our wheels:

We need not trouble you with needless description of the World Famed "RAMBLER" Bicycle, which by its easy running, appearance, strength and lasting qualities has won for the makers a name world renowned.

The "RAMBLERS" are equipped with the great G. & J. Detachable Tire, which since its introduction to Honolulu has proved, by the numbers in use, the most successful and necessary adjustment to a bicycle.

We take great pleasure in recommending to our friends the "RAMBLER" and trust that in furnishing one to any person they will never have occasion to regret. Our terms are such that a bicycle is no longer a luxury but a necessity in actual saving of time and money. We would ask you to but call and get our figures.

1896 Rambler, $95.00

As is customary nearing the close of each year, the makers in order to get ready for the ensuing year, offer the present 1896 wheels at reduced prices. We are now prepared to give our customers the benefit of these reductions as long as our stock holds out. For those wishing an up to date wheel of the highest grade, one which we can guarantee to the fullest extent, we would offer the "RAMBLER." As to improvements for the coming season we would say we anticipate none. Such changes which may be made will, as has been the past two years, be changes immaterial to the improvement of the wheel in general.

Kindly give this some thought or call your friends' attention to it and oblige.

Yours truly,

E. O. Hall & Son

SHE WOULD NOT TALK.

But the Reporter Heard All About the Trouble in Tin Can Court.

There had been trouble of some kind in the tenement house dignified by the name of Tin Can Court, and a reporter had called on a certain Mrs. McSniffin, who, he had been told, knew all about it.

"Yes," she said, "I do know all about it, but I propose to keep what I know to myself, unless I'm subpoenaed to appear in regular court, and then I'd be obliged to tell, but until that time comes I have nothing to say, for I know just how easy it is for one to get into trouble by letting one's tongue run when it's better to have been still, and I ain't one to make trouble in the court anyhow, for the land knows there's plenty to do it without me, and if some of that trouble making class knew, as I know, that it was Mrs. Billkins who began the fuss with Mrs. Cratty by passing insinuations on Mrs. Cratty's daughter Mandie, because her young man up and jilted her for Mag Murphy, the young lady as is table girl at Pat Deolan's restaurant—I say that if certain persons I might mention but won't, knowed this they'd up and blab it fast enough, but I ain't one o' that kind, Mrs. Cratty being a good friend o' mine and a perfect lady, if she did hit Mrs. Billkins over the head with a beer bottle, as who could blame her when Mrs. Billkins said what she did about Mrs. Cratty's own flesh and blood? I've nothing agin Mrs. Billkins, and many the drawin of tea I've loaned her and am ready to do it ag'in, but I can't say that I'm so very sorry she got the worst of it when she come at Mrs. Cratty with a fire shovel. I ain't one to approve o' ladies fightin, and I never fit any one in my life, but I did admire the way Mrs. Cratty handled Mrs. Billkins, and Mrs. Cratty a little mite of a woman, not bigger'n a pound of soap, and it proved what I've always said, that these little, pale, blue eyed, light haired and light complected women was awful when you once got 'em started. If the patrol wagon hadn't come just when it did, I'm thinkin it'd gone a good deal worse than it did with Mrs. Billkins. But, then, I've nothing to say about the matter unless it comes in to court. If others in this tenement want to get into trouble talkin 'bout the affair, they kin. The tortures of the inquisition couldn't draw a word about it from me."—New York World.

A "Welcome" Spoiled.

On one of General Grant's visits to the City of Mexico in the early eighties, the city, not wishing to be outdone by the other capitals of the world in its treatment of the great hero, assigned him quarters in the Minería, erected a triumphal arch, displaying the word "Welcome" in large letters, and prepared an elaborate banquet in his honor.

To meet the expenses of the feast, so the story goes—it was a way they had of doing things there then—the city withheld one day's pay from the police force.

The day after the banquet a policeman was standing beneath the triumphal arch gazing thoughtfully up at it.

The breezes had taken some liberties with it, but the principal damage done to it was the removal of the first letter of the word "Welcome," thus turning it, with a little stretch of the imagination, into Spanish.

At last the policeman gave utterance to his thoughts by reading aloud the inscription as it then stood, and commenting upon it.

"El come," he read. "Si señor. Que car-r-amba! Pero nosotros pagamos." [He eats. Oh, yes. Plague take him! But we pay for it.]—Youth's Companion.

The New Cook.

"Our new cook," remarked Mr. Bingles, "is apparently an Episcopalian."

Mrs. Bingles betrayed an uncommon interest in his remarks.

"What makes you think that, John?" "She has done the things she ought not to have done, and has left undone the things she ought to have done."

And Mr. Bingles cut savagely into the overcooked steak and angrily explored the half fried potatoes for a bit of brown. —Chicago Tribune.

An Unfair Advantage.

"It's real mean," said the amazon indignantly. "There ought to be some sort of restriction to prevent such a thing in civilized warfare."

"What do you mean?"

"One of the scouts has just come in. She reports that the enemy is making arrangements to use trained mice!" —Washington Star.

On the Modiste Plan.

"Lemme see," calculated Mr. Philip Tank, "as near as I can figure it, I only paid $11 for the whisky and $38 at the hospital. It reminds me of one of your dresses."

"Why, dear?" asked his wife. "The tremens cost so much more than the goods." —Cincinnati Enquirer.

He Could Not Be.

Campaign Manager—This man Squeers says he's a friend of yours.

Presidential Candidate—A friend! I should say not. Why, that fellow asked me what my views were on the silver question!—Truth.

The Real Victims.

"This constant piano practice is a very severe strain on the nerves," she said, with a sigh.

"So I've heard the neighbors say," he replied. —Chicago Post.

HONOLULU, April 21, 1896.

Mr. C. W. MACFARLANE:—It affords me pleasure to recommend, to any one whose hair is falling out, the use of DR. POTTIE'S HAIR OIL. My hair was coming out at such a rate as led me to believe that I would soon become bald. After using the oil for five weeks this ceased entirely; none whatever is now falling out. I consider it the best and only worthy remedy for this trouble and also recommend it as a stimulant to new growth.
